

★ GRANBY ★

At the heart of Grand County lies a town where cowboys still roam and streams run clear. Known as the Dude Ranch Capital of the USA, Granby preserves its rich ranching heritage and small-town atmosphere whilst continuing to be the area's bustling intersection of commercial and tourism. Granby is central to the best fishing in Colorado. Whether you fly-fish or fish from a boat, the rivers, streams and lakes hold all the fishing adventures you could want.

★ GRAND LAKE ★

Nestled on the shores of Colorado's largest natural lake, surrounded by the Arapaho National Forest and at the western entrance to majestic Rocky Mountain National Park sits the historic village of Grand Lake. One of the last unspoiled resort communities in the state, Grand Lake offers both the charm and tranquility of bygone days while at the same time offering amenities that surprise first time visitors to this mountain town. Whether you plan to visit during one or all four seasons, an abundance of activities, historic treasures and opportunities for downtime await you from the moment you arrive.

★ HOT SULPHUR SPRINGS ★

Grand County's county seat, the small town of Hot Sulphur Springs has played an important part in the history of the area. Named for the hot springs that line the canyon along this stretch of the upper Colorado River, the area was first visited by passing Ute and Arapaho hunting parties who called the area "big medicine." Today, the small town just east of Kremmling is home to one of the finest resorts in the nation and welcomes young and old to bathe in the warm, soothing waters that made Hot Sulphur Springs famous.
